

Pay student debt or save for the future? You don't have to choose.

You're eligible for the Student Debt Retirement Savings Match. When you sign up for this benefit and continue to pay your student loans each month, you can earn an employer match, equal to the amount you paid on your student loans, paid to your retirement account after your plan year ends.

Here's how the benefit works for 2 common contribution scenarios:

Can't contribute to your retirement plan?

If you enroll in this program, your monthly student loan payments will count toward your retirement match, making you eligible for your employer's match at the end of the year.

It's free money and a great savings head start.

Without this benefit

...you're missing out on a match from your employer.

With this benefit

...you have a great beginning for your savings.

Your employer match

Not getting your full match today?

If you enroll in this program, your employer will use your contributions plus your student debt dollar amounts to get you to your full match at the end of the year.

Retirement plan boosted.

Without this benefit

...you're missing out on a match from your employer.

With this benefit

...you get the boost you need.
